Dysart will keep tree cutting by-law

On the recommendation of its Forest Advisory Group, Dysart et al council will reinstate its tree cutting by-law with only minor amendments.

The by-law, which expired September 15 under a one year, 'sunset' clause, has proved to be "both effective and desirable" advisory group chairman Peter Hynard told council in a letter received Monday.

In reviewing the by-law with Dysart et al enforcement officers Bob English and Dale Griffin, the advisory group identified a number of minor shortcomings, and corrected them in a draft by-law presented to council on Monday.

The group also noted that "the present level of enforcement effort is insufficient to adequately police all logging operations and could be increased as much as two fold."

"We believe that such an increase may be desirable but that you should consider the extent of infractions and the cost to the municipality of your decision" Hynard said in his letter.

The advisory group also concluded that efforts to locate active logging operations within the municipality would be aided if the Ministry of Natural Resources more strictly enforced its work permit requirement. The group drafted a letter which council agreed to

County should follow Dysart lead...see page 4

The group suggested that the method of enforcement be changed from stump circumference to average diameter across the log.

English explained to council that some loggers have been getting around the by-law's provisions by cutting trees across the roots, which makes the stump significantly larger than the resulting log. Measuring in two directions across the log should eliminate the problem, English said.

Since the by-law has proved effective, the advisory group recommended that the sunset clause be dropped, eliminating the need for an annual review of the regulations.

forward to Minden District manager Don White asking for more co-operation on the work permit regulation.

Members of the group felt council had publicized the by-law well, and suggested that it do so again when the new by-law is approved. They also suggested that "such a notice might advise landowners of the MNR private land tree marking service which is offered free of charge."

In conclusion, the group noted that it would be available to advise Haliburton County officials if they decided to proceed with a county wide tree cutting by-law.

Museum finds support

Tourism ministry ready to hear County proposals

The provincial government appears ready to support local efforts to keep the Kanawa International Museum of Canoes, Kayaks and Watercraft in Haliburton County.

Victoria/Haliburton MPP John Eakins said Tuesday that during discussion of Ministry of Tourism and Recreation estimates, tourism development director Bob Brock agreed in principle that the world class collection should remain in Haliburton County.

Eakins said he believes Brock's response means that the provincial government "would feel committed to doing whatever is possible to see that (the collection) remains in Haliburton County."

The museum, housed in log buildings adjacent to Camp Kandalore in Stanhope Township, has been the object of local and provincial concern for a number of years. Recently, a consultant's report commissioned by a committee at Trent University recommended that the collection should be moved to Peterborough and a multi million dollar facility built to display it.

The report came under fire from local officials and concerned citizens, who want the collection to remain in the area.

Eakins said county representatives and museum supporters must act quickly to present a brief to provincial officials on the collection's future. Brock has indicated a willingness to meet with a county delegation, Eakins said.

"What I wanted to get from (the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation) was just a general commitment that the thing wasn't cut and dried, and would go to Peterborough" Eakins noted.

"We need a good, strong committee" to go to Queen's Park and say Haliburton should be the focal point for the museum, Eakins said.

"I think they're open to be sold on it. That's the way I look at it."

Eakins said he would discuss the matter in more detail when he meets with county officials Tuesday night at the inaugural session of County council.

Stanhope to set emergency plan

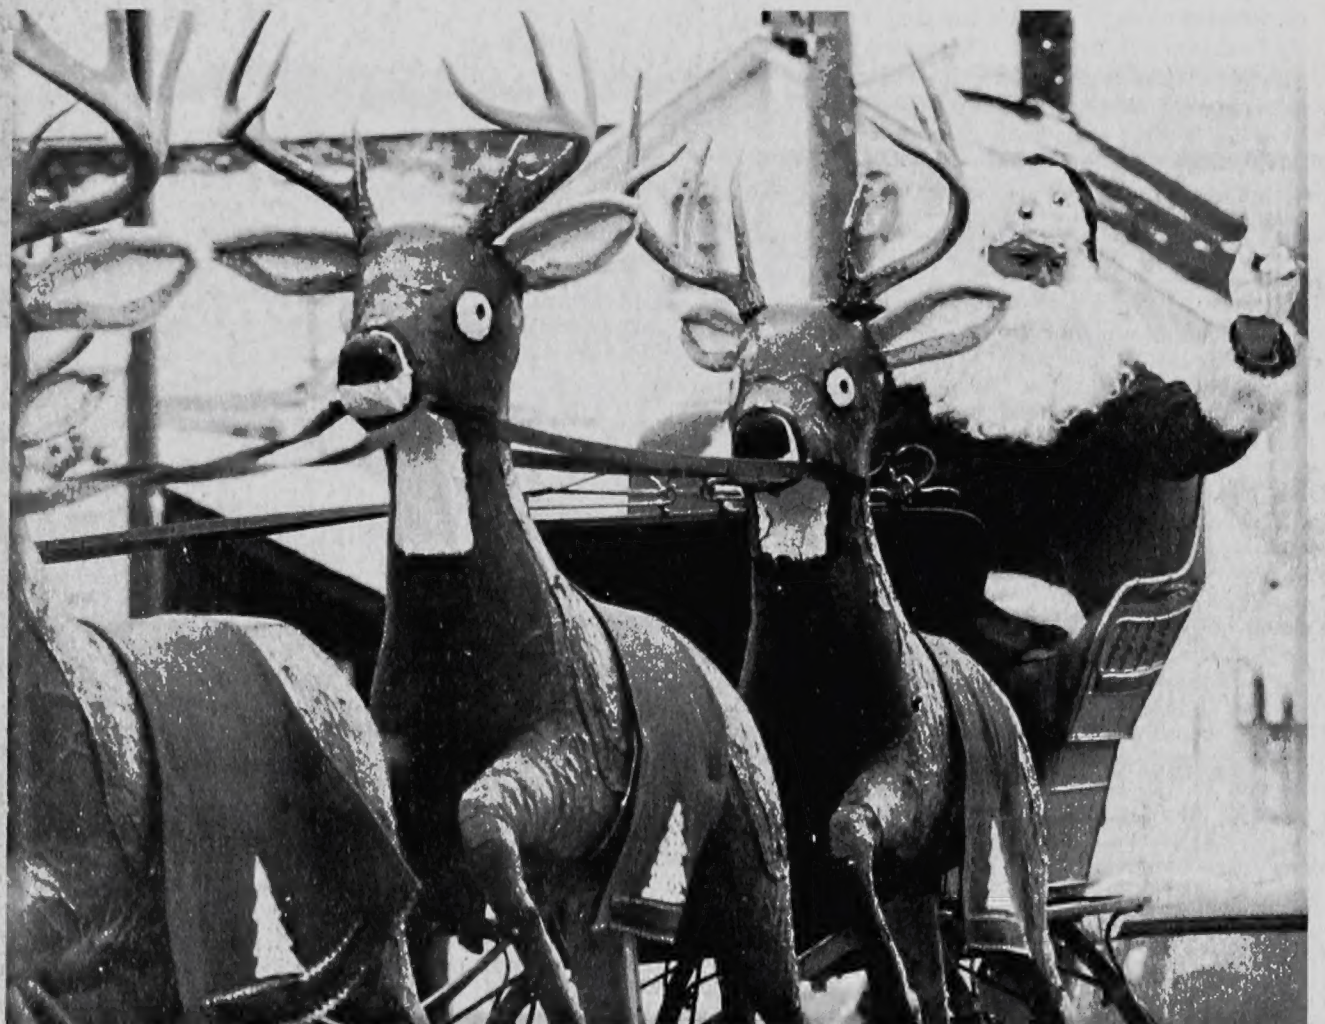

Stanhope reeve Harry Davis will spearhead the development of an emergency plan for his municipality.

The plan would list church and women's groups, contractors, large equipment owners, marinas, truck drivers and other people with specialized skills or machinery that could be needed in the event of a major emergency or disaster, and spell out procedures to be followed.

Davis obtained background information on the idea at an Emergency Planning Canada conference in Arnprior, Ontario on November 21, one of a series taking place across Canada to promote the concept.

Purpose of the plan would be to co-ordinate the response of volunteer groups and individuals in the community to emergencies occasioned by floods, fires, chemical spills, multiple car accidents, tor-

Fine Arts School has key role

Possibility of more programs in future to be examined

Haliburton's School of Fine Arts will continue to play an important role in the educational opportunities provided by Sir Sandford Fleming College, according to its president.

Speaking in Haliburton last Friday, Dr. Charles Pascal said the "concept of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts is very important", since it is concerned with "lifelong learning" and "stretching the mind in creative ways."

Pascal said consideration will be given to ways of enlarging the activities of the Haliburton School.

Addressing a luncheon meeting attended by close to 100 people representing a broad cross section of the local community, Pascal said the need to develop effective approaches to higher education "has never been more prominent". Economic constraints have affected college funding while at the same time pushing up enrolment, as people seek retraining, the SSFC president noted.

Pascal said educators must accept the challenge of demonstrating their social value and significance in the eighties, which he described as "the decade of accountability."

There has been "too much cutting where we can cut, and not enough cutting where we should cut" Pascal said. "There's too much survival decision making, keeping the lid on for another year, doing all things less well rather than doing fewer things better."

Because of the new economic realities, community colleges "will probably not be able to be all things to all people" Pascal said. But Sir Sandford expects to implement new programs in the near future which will provide job training in growing fields. These include computer integrated manufacturing, a school of merchandising and hospitality, and a school of criminal justice.

"A time of turbulence is also one of great opportunity for those who can understand, accept and exploit the new realities" Pascal said.

The SSFC president's visit to the area lasted two days, and included a question and answer period with Grade 11 students at HHSS, a luncheon with board of education officials, a speech to the Haliburton Rotary Club, and the public luncheon on Friday.

Acid snow reports set

Environment Canada to include pH reading in data

Beginning this Tuesday, the public in Eastern Canada will get weekly reports telling them the acidity of rain and snow. Federal Environment ministry officials hope that these weekly reports will increase public support for tougher pollution control legislation.

Five stations in Eastern Canada will sample acidity levels in rain and snow for Environment Canada's weather service.

Paint Lake, just west of Dorset, will be the focal point for local sampling, using the provincial environment ministry's Acid Precipitation in Ontario Study (APIOS) laboratory.

The weekly reports will note acidity on a logarithmic PH scale of which 7 is neutral. Each one digit change represents a tenfold difference in acidity, thus precipitation with an acidity of pH 4.6 is ten times more acid than normal precipitation of pH 5.6.

Environment officials say most of southeastern Canada receives precipitation in the range of pH 4.2 and 4.5, which is considered strongly to moderately acidic. Some 86% of the lakes in southeastern Canada are considered at risk by precipitation in this acidity range.

Lake water with pH 5 offers very poor conditions for fish reproduction. Waters of pH 4.5 threaten fish survival. An estimated 1,400 lakes in southeastern Canada have become acidified in recent decades.

The majority of acid rain is caused by the burning of fossil fuels, metal smelting and vehicle exhaust. This pollution is carried by weather systems and eventually deposited, in snow and rain, in areas that are often far from the source.

Acidic snow runs into lakes, lowering the pH level and stressing aquatic life. The buffering capacity of a lake determines the impact of acidic inflow. A lake such as Kashagawigamog with a largely soil bottom neutralizes acid better than a lake with a predominantly rock bottom such as Kennesis Lake.

The acid sensitivity of lakes in the Haliburton/Muskoka area has been classified by the Ministry of the Environment on a scale of 1 to 5 to

Santa is coming

Santa Claus is a busy man at this time of year, as he gets ready to make his rounds on December 24. But, as in past years, the merry old gentleman has agreed to take time out from his work at the North Pole to visit with the boys and girls of Haliburton village and the surrounding area.

At the invitation of the Haliburton Rotary Club, Santa will take part in the club's annual Christmas party for youngsters this Saturday at the Haliburton Legion.

The event gets underway at noon hour, and should provide a chance for children to let Santa know what they hope to find under the Christmas tree on December 25.

Every youngster who attends will get a present, courtesy of the Rotarians.

This dog could use a good home. He was near death when a Haliburton Lake couple began feeding him. They hope either to find the animal's owner, or to find someone who would like the dog as a pet.

Lost dog needs good home

Couple hopes someone will want the animal they saved

It happens every hunting season. Hunters use dogs to flush out deer, and in the confusion, a few of the dogs get lost. Many of them die of starvation when winter sets in. Others, the lucky ones, are 'adopted' by local residents who find the animals skulking around their homes or cottages.

Barbara and Terry Cummings of Haliburton Lake have temporarily given shelter and food to a lost hunting dog, but they don't want to keep it. And since there is no local dog pound or Humane Society shelter to which they can turn, they're hoping someone in Haliburton County is willing to give the dog a good home.

The couple first noticed the dog, a large, black mutt with a good deal of Labrador in his parentage, lurking in the woods near their home. The animal was emaciated and weak, but would come no closer than the end of their driveway.

On one particularly cold morning, they found him huddled near their front door, apparently near death, despite the food they had been leaving out. The couple made a little shelter for the dog, and he has remained nearby ever since.

Despite his abandonment and struggles to survive, the dog is good natured, the Cummings say, although he is still nervous and reluctant to put too much trust in his benefactors.

The Cummings have placed ads in the Echo looking for the dog's owner, and have called every property owner in the area, but no one knows where the dog came from.

If you would be willing to take over from the Cummings and give the dog a good home, call the Echo and we'll pass the information along.

Bicroft council

At a November 24 meeting, the council of Bicroft Township considered the following matters.

Minutes of the previous meetings being dated October 27, November 1 and November 14, 1983 were approved as read.

Disbursements Sheet No. 83-11 containing voucher Nos. 6621 to 6716 in the amount of $60,983.31 was passed for payment.

The area presently being used as a Municipal Office will be designated as a storage area for all groups making use of the Community Centre.

S. McColl was given permission to attend a seminar on Municipal Financial Reporting sponsored by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing at Minden on November 29, 1983. Normal travel expenses were to apply.

The Township of Bicroft will become a member of the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority (under protest) to comply with the Conservation Authorities Act, September 1981, Section 13 R.S.O. 1980, Chapter 85, beginning January 1, 1984.

S. Ryan and J. Fraser were to attend a seminar on changes to the Ontario Building Code sponsored by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing to be held at Barrie on December 1, 1983. Normal travel expenses were to apply.

Murray heads PC's

New executive chosen in Bobcaygeon

David Murray of Lindsay has been chosen to head the provincial wing of the Victoria Haliburton Progressive Conservative Association for 1984.

Murray succeeds Art Dawson of Haliburton, who will serve on the 1984 executive as immediate past president.

A new slate of officers was elected at the association's annual meeting last Thursday evening in Bobcaygeon.

More than 100 people attended the meeting, including what Dawson described as "a very positive and enthusiastic crowd" of about 30 people from Haliburton County.

Guest speaker for the evening was the Honourable Alan Pope, Minister of Natural Resources, who commented on provincial policies affecting resources, and open forums held to hear voters' opinions on resource issues.

The Minister answered questions on Mariposa watershed problems and was made aware of Haliburton County concerns with a new wildlife management policy focussing on trapping.

Serving on the 1984 executive along with Murray and Dawson are: Larry McKnight of Minden, first vice president; Lorne Chester, second vice president; Monte Robson, secretary; Joyce Junkin, treasurer; Art Ward, chief financial officer; and directors Bud Stephens, Marina McClellan, Gregg Law, Clare Sisson, Joe Iles, Ross Radway, Roy Windover, Bob Nichol, Doug Fish, John Martin, Nelson Davis and Mac Gadway.

Dysart to honour octogenarians

Dysart et al council has decided to honour citizens of the municipality who reach 80 years of age. Certificates will be presented to those who achieve the landmark. As well, Dysart will create an 'honourary citizenship' scroll that can be presented to dignitaries and other noteworthy visitors to the area.

Councillor Glen Hodgson, who presented the idea at a meeting of council on Monday, said it would not be an expensive undertaking for the municipality.

Hodgson said the certificates could be made available to those who have already reached the age of 80, and would be available for presentation to future octogenarians.

Council agreed with the concept, and asked that criteria be developed for the awarding of honorary citizenships.

Logs planned to reduce beach silting

Logs will be installed at the mouth of the Drag River in Haliburton in a bid to ease a silting problem at Rotary beach. Dysart et al decided Monday that using logs to reroute the flow of water into Head Lake might stop a sandbar from shifting to the right and decreasing the water depth at the popular public beach.

Reeve Murray Fearrey noted that the original plan for Head Lake Park called for a dock and lookout tower at the river mouth. It has not been built, but might have eased the silting problem.

Council hopes that placing logs at the river mouth will have the same effect.

The work is expected to be carried out next year.

College president to visit China in 1984

Sir Sandford Fleming College President, Charles Pascal, is travelling to China in January to conduct a lecture series at the invitation of that country's Ministry of Science and Technology.

The Chinese government has established a sophisticated network of research institutes. Pascal's presentations will focus on science and technology management, in particular, the effective practical application of scientific knowledge.

"I'll be attempting to provide advice on how to put research and development findings into action in order to serve the people at the commune level," said Pascal.

The topics of his lectures and seminars include strategic planning, project evaluation, translating knowledge into practice, and an overview of the Ontario college system.

Pascal is delivering the lecture series under the auspices of Canadian Executive Services (CESO), an organization which supplies Canadian expertise.

Are your hard-earned dollars going up in smoke?

Then take a few minutes now and discover how adding electricity to your oil furnace can dramatically cut the cost of heating your home.

If your oil furnace is in good condition, but you'd like it to run more economically, a dual-energy system combining oil and electricity may be just the answer. In fact, depending on how much electric heat you add, and how you operate your system, you could use as little as one tank of oil for an entire heating season!

For example, an electric plenum heater or heat pump, will reduce the amount of oil your furnace uses by up to 75%. In addition, a heat pump provides air conditioning in the summer for economical year-round comfort.

If your furnace does need replacing, an electric furnace or one of the other electric systems can heat your home cleanly, efficiently and economically.

If you'd like to know more about dual-energy and all-electric systems, write to Ontario Hydro, 620 University Ave., 4th Floor, Toronto M5G 1X6, and ask for our free booklet 'Electric Heating Options for Your Home.'

The few minutes you take now could add up to big savings this winter.

CADE finds support to begin programs

The local Committee for Alcohol and Drug Education has reached "a turning point" according to spokesman Pat Cavanagh, and expects to begin an active program in the new year.

At a meeting last Friday, a dozen people volunteered to serve on a board of directors for the organization, assuring that it will continue to operate.

CADE was formed last spring to investigate the need for alcohol and drug abuse support services and educational programs within the community. Friday's meeting drew close to 40 people, including representatives of Alcoholics Anonymous and Victoria/Haliburton MPP John Eakins.

The first of a two part film entitled 'The Chemical People', produced for the Public Broadcasting System in the U.S., and intended to help communities begin to deal with drug and alcohol problems, generated "a lot of interest" among those who attended the meeting, according to Cavanagh. The second part of the film will be shown to CADE supporters this Friday, and public showings are expected to be organized in the new year.

The committee has scheduled a meeting for this Wednesday with several elementary and secondary school teachers. A representative of the Addiction Research Foundation, as well as CADE members, will discuss ways of improving alcohol and drug abuse education within the county schools.

Another of the committee's concerns has been to determine if there is a need for an assessment service within the community. Some 35 questionnaires on the subject were sent to various professionals within the community. Fifteen have been returned to date, the meeting was told, and response has been positive.

Support for the organization was strengthened at the meeting, as 12 people volunteered to serve on a board of directors. An executive will be chosen from the board, and will work toward incorporation as a non profit organization, Cavanagh said.

Once that has been accomplished, CADE expects to seek further funding from government programs and from the private sector.

The eventual aim is to hire a full time co ordinator, Cavanagh said.

These happy youngsters braved cold temperatures and biting winds to take part in Cobocn's Santa Claus parade on Sunday. The annual event included a number of marching bands, clowns, floats, and of course, the jolly old man himself, who greeted children at the Legion following the parade.

The reeve says he hopes Stanhope's emergency plan can be in place as early as January, 1984.

help cottagers and concerned citizens understand the threat of acid precipitation.

Precipitation at the sampling station in Dorset averages pH 4.5.

The weekly reports are intended to inform the public of the threat that acidic fallout poses to lakes, rivers and forests and thus to the tourism, fishery and forestry industries.

Rules changed on assessment

Property owners will no longer get annual assessment notices, under changes introduced by provincial Revenue Minister Bud Gregory. Beginning in 1984, notices will be sent only to those property owners whose assessment has changed during the preceding year.

The changes have delayed assessment rolls, which will not be in the hands of local municipalities until February 14. However, tapes used for interim billing purposes will be available by January 11, according to the minister.

Final date for appealing an assessment is March 7.

Gregory said the move to reduce the number of assessment notices sent to ratepayers is expected to save $2 million across the province.

Katimivik program will not return

Dysart et al council has decided not to renew its association with the federal government's Katimivik volunteer program beyond March of next year.

Council noted at a meeting Monday that it will not have enough work to keep the program within the municipality after that date.

Katimivik, a program which provides work and living experience for young people from across Canada, has been operating in Dysart since July. Three groups of volunteers will have spent three months each in Dysart before the present agreement terminates in March.

The Katimivik volunteers have carried out a number of projects requiring hard physical labour, including cleanup work on lands adjacent to Head Lake Park, cutting cross country ski trails, painting of the Rails' End Gallery, and the installation of rock filled gabion baskets along a portion of the Drag River in Haliburton village.

During their stay in the community, the Katimivik volunteers have shared a residence with supervisors and been billeted for short periods with local citizens.

New ski trails planned

Association dedicated to upgrading facilities

A well-groomed and well-marked cross-country ski trail from Haliburton village to resorts on the south side of Lake Kashagawigamog heads the priority list of the Haliburton Highlands Nordic Trail Association.

The association was formed last April in response to increasing interest in cross-country skiing throughout the county. The association hopes eventually to link all of Haliburton's trails together to offer superb cross-country skiing.

Curtis Eastmure, owner of Maple Sands Resort and spokesman for the association, says Mike Exall, an outdoor educator from Seneca's King College, who addressed the group's annual meeting in November, termed the Haliburton area an excellent site for cross-country skiing with great potential for development.

Horseshoe Valley, currently Ontario's largest cross-country skiing area, is fully developed, meaning that Ontario needs another cross-country skiing area, Exall told the meeting.

Cross-country skiing is currently booming because of its fitness value, its relatively inexpensive nature and its possibilities for family fun.

Today's cross-country skier, according to Eastmure, wants well cut and tracked trails that are marked and easily accessible. Haliburton County can offer this, Eastmure said.

This winter the Nordic Trail Association will complete a major trail from Halimar Resort through to Haliburton village, where it will link up with the Jim Beef and Pinestone trail systems. The new trail will be well-marked, classified for four levels of skier ability, and will be mechanically track-set. Other trails will also get signage and classification through the association this winter.

All of the area's resorts are in favour of the Nordic Trail Association, viewing it as a major boost for winter tourism, according to Eastmure.

The association is independently funded by membership, which currently numbers 39. Fees are $40 per resort and $20 per individual.

The Nordic Trail Association is currently discussing plans for the next six months, Eastmure said.

Passed in the year 1867 by-laws will go to museum

Haliburton's Pioneer Museum will soon have some 116 year old municipal by-laws to add to its collection.

The by-laws, passed in 1867, were reprinted in booklet form in 1896.

Dysart et al clerk Wayne Wood found a copy of the by-laws in a drawer at the municipal office recently, and brought them to the attention of council, who decided Monday to hand the booklet over to the Pioneer Museum.

Entitled a 'Guide for Poundkeepers and Fenceviewers, Municipality of Dysart and United Townships', the 14 page booklet contains by-laws regulating pounds, fenceviewers and animals running at large.

The by-law on pounds, only the fourth enacted in Dysart, was passed on July 13, 1867, and signed by John Lucas, Reeve, and J.R. Erskine, Township clerk. Its first provision is that "If not previously replevied (sic), the Poundkeeper shall impound any horse, bull, oxen, cow, sheep, goat, pig, or other cattle, or any poultry distrained for unlawfully running at large, or for trespassing and doing damage, delivered to him for that purpose, by any person resident within his division who is distrained the same."

The by-law sets out procedures to be followed by the finder of such animals, and includes provisions for selling the beasts if they are not claimed within 48 hours.

Poundkeepers were paid under a detailed formula, spelled out in the penultimate paragraph of the by-law:

"The poundkeeper shall receive, and they are hereby authorized to take for impounding, for each horse or colt, ox, cow, bull or any neat cattle, one year old and over, twenty cents; for each sheep, goat, pig, calf or swine, five cents; for each goose, turkey or other poultry, two cents; for advertising any animal or any number of animals impounded at one time, belonging to one party, forty cents; for selling a horse, a colt, or any neat cattle one year old or over, twenty five cents each; for selling sheep, goats, calves, pigs or swine, ten cents each; turkeys, geese or other poultry, two cents each; the poundkeeper shall furnish and feed each animal every twenty four hours while impounded, as follows: a horse or colt, ox, cow or bull, twenty four pounds of hay, or other sufficient food for each, for which he shall receive the sum of ten cents each; sheep, goats or calves, five pounds of hay or other sufficient food at four cents each; for feeding each swine or pig with three pints of peas, corn or other grain, four cents; each goose, turkey or other poultry, one gill of corn or other grain, for the above period, at one cent."

By-law No. 6, also passed on July 13, 1867, and signed by Reeve Lucas and clerk J.R. Erskine, was entitled 'A by-law for Regulating and Restraining Animals from running at large."

Its first provision states that: "No entire horse, or bull, one year old; or boar pig over three months old, at any time of the year; no ram from the first day of September to the first day of January, shall run at large, under a penalty or fine against the owner thereof, of Four Dollars for each horse or bull; Two Dollars for each ram or boar pig, which fine or penalty may be collected in the usual manner..."

As well, according to the by-law, "It shall be lawful for all neat cattle not known to be breachy or unruly to run at large, but all unruly or breachy cattle, at any time, if found running at large, are liable to be impounded."

The booklet also contains by-law No. 5, of 1867, establishing the height of lawful fences and regulating and prescribing the duties of fence viewers; by-law No. 127, passed April 30, 1875 and signed by Reeve A. Niven and Clerk Chas. A. Wastell, amending by-law number 4; and by-law No. 365, passed June 12, 1896, and signed by Reeve William Giles and Clerk William Prust, impounding horses running at large and setting fines for the offence.

These by-laws were never repealed, and hence they remain in effect in Dysart et al, clerk Wayne Wood said.

Why not

While all by-laws are intended to benefit local citizens, not all by-laws receive public support. Dysart et al's tree cutting by-law appears to be a notable exception. Drafted in consultation with the people who would be affected, the by-law has proved to be a good one. Although it expired in September, under a one year 'sunset' clause, the by-law has been strengthened in consultation with local loggers, and will be reinstated.

The by-law imposes and enforces size limits for certain types of timber harvested by commercial loggers. Its purpose is to protect the municipality's forest resources and in the long term, to improve them. As such, the by-law is a manifestation of the leadership and responsibility that Dysart council continues to bring to the job of running the municipality.

Why then, would municipalities throughout the county not want to enact similar by-laws? Or better yet, why would county council not endorse a similar by-law to govern tree harvesting in every corner of the Highlands? While the matter has not yet come to a formal vote, it appears certain that some municipal representatives would try to block a county-wide tree cutting by-law. Elgin Stouffer, head of county council's forest management committee, has indicated that there is resistance among some county councillors with whom the matter has been discussed informally. Some people, it seems, think that individual rights should include the right to devastate the landscape and leave nothing behind for future generations.

The by-law works in Dysart, and it could work just as well in other parts of Haliburton County. Ratepayers who care about the area's future, and in particular about its forest resources, should demand that county councillors act in the best of interests of all the people and bring in a county-wide tree cutting by-law. To do otherwise would be to abandon the forests to an even bleaker future than they already face.

Act now

Supporters of the Kanawa Canoe Museum - and that includes just about everybody who recognizes the collection's value as a tourist attraction - have good reason to hope that the collection can be kept in Haliburton County. The director of tourism development for Ontario, Bob Brock, has gone on record as supporting a Haliburton County base for the museum. MPP John Eakins received the commitment during discussion of the estimates of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation.

While it is easy to offer support in principle and much harder to commit funds, the ministry's position does indicate that the future of the collection can remain linked with Haliburton, if local people seize the opportunity. Clearly, a realistic proposal will have to be drafted and presented to ministry officials as a first step to keeping the collection intact and in Haliburton County.

Area politicians as well as interested citizens formed a committee to show support for the museum when pressure to move it to Peterborough or another location began to mount. It appears that the Ministry has seen good sense in the idea of keeping the collection in Haliburton County as an adjunct to the white water park in Minden. But provincial officials must be convinced that an investment in better facilities to preserve and display the collection would be a sound one. Local people should be able to do that if they move quickly and forcefully.

A brief should be completed and taken to Queen's Park within the next few weeks, before the ministry's apparent commitment can lapse in the face of other priorities.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

To my friends in Haliburton:
As you read a couple of weeks ago I have been transferred to Beaverton, Ontario, and December 9, 1983 is my last day officially in Haliburton.

I look back on the 4½ years spent in your community and find it difficult to leave. I think firstly of my personnel at the bank. Their friendliness and efficiency that made my job there so easy and enjoyable.

I think of the boys on the hockey and ball teams that I have had the opportunity to work with. This involvement helped greatly in letting me become part of the community.

Thoughts come to mind of the "characters" that I have had the pleasure of playing ball and/or hockey with. I'll miss their friendship.

Thanks to my customers at the bank for their co-operation in working with me and for their well wishes upon hearing of my leaving.

Haliburton, you have a good community and I look forward to visiting here in the future.

To The Editor:

As 1983 nears completion and we reflect on the past year, we wonder how the world will handle its many crises and even if it will survive them. I would like to add my personal note of optimism.

Having spent considerable time with the elementary school students throughout the County, and having recently participated in the secondary school Career Week, I cannot help but be very impressed by the calibre of our young people.

If the youth in the rest of the world possess even half the imagination, the understanding, the warmth and the intellect of our Haliburton County students, then we owe it to them to keep this world together until they can take the reins. When that time comes, I'm sure, our future will be secure.

To The Editor:

As we move through December and we get our daily countdown of the number of shopping days 'til Christmas, it's sad that we become so engrossed with giving and getting, we tend to forget that there are people a world away who are literally crying for help. People in the Developing World, blind people, who are waiting for us to put into practice the teachings of the One whose birth we are celebrating.

Think about this as listen to Christmas carols...we allow more than half of our world's estimated blind brethren - who can be restored to sight by simply easily performed cataract surgery costing only $25 per patient - to go without and live out their lives in total darkness.

What can be more delightful than the simple joys of a small child's Christmas? In the past week I have looked in on some community Christmas events, and at each one, I have been moved by the excitement and the wonder in the sparkling eyes of children. As an adult, jaded by the crassness of Musak Christmas carols and fever pitch advertisements, I find it hard to savour the Christmas spirit. The conventions of friendliness and good cheer don't always ring true for me, because I know that like wrapping paper and turkey scraps, they're soon thrown out.

But a child knows nothing of this. A child knows only that Santa Claus is real. Children embrace the spirit of love and generosity that Santa represents, and as long as they believe in that spirit, Christmas remains a magical time.

Inevitably, reality pierces the bubble of imagination. 'Santa is your parents' someone will say, and try as they might, no child can avoid that disillusionment for long.

But at age three or four or five, there is no inkling of what is to come. There is only wide-eyed amazement and growing anticipation. Watching a child see Christmas can bring a touch of magic back to the season. And it can remind you that while Santa Claus is a figure of myth and ritual, he's no less real now than he was when you heard him on the roof or saw the shadow of his sleigh ghost across the clouds of a December night.

Feir Play

The calendar is winding down and there are not too many days left before we will be saying goodbye to the old year of 1983 and welcoming in the new year of 1984. If we take time to reflect back on 1983 I think that although there were many happy things that happened we would all have to agree that the year was filled with bloodshed, wars, talk of wars and the ever constant threat of nuclear war. Yes, during the year the headlines in the local and national newspapers were usually of a depressing nature. At times it seems to me that we have turned into a nation of complainers as we always seem to be complaining about the governments, inflation, unemployment, high cost of living; and you name it and we'll complain about it. On the other side of the coin if we would just sit down and think for a moment about all the wonderful things that we have to be thankful for. Granted, we sit around these days talking about gloom and doom, about budgets and recessions and other problems and it's come to the time that we can't seem to find anything to laugh about. When you stop and think about it, was there ever a time in history when we could all use a good laugh now and again? But through it all just stop for a moment and think of all the millions of people in other countries who every day of their lives are faced with hardships, starvation, with practically little or no future to look forward to. We, who are fortunate enough to live in this great country of Canada have a great deal to be thankful for, but we find ourselves criticizing municipal, provincial and federal governments on practically every issue. There are many problems that the three levels of governments would love to solve but they just can't seem to come up with the answers.

The figures won't be in until the end of the year so its very hard to tell at this stage of the game just how good or how poor business has been in Haliburton County during the months of November and December. According to a story in the business section of a recent edition of the Toronto Star, in other parts of Canada consumer spending is growing at a steady rate and analysts are saying that this Christmas will be the best in three years. That prediction was supported by Statistics Canada's report recently that department store sales for October rose 7.3 per cent from a year earlier to $922 million. The news item goes on to say that it's the sixth straight month the department stores have seen retail growth, and total sales to date this year have grown 7.1 per cent to $ 8.06 billion. Sales figures have been consistently strong since the summer, especially since inflation in the department stores is running at an average of 4 per cent", said David Brodie, retail analyst with Bell G. Hinckley Ltd.

One day last week I was talking to Don Little at the Silver Maple Motel at Haliburton and he was telling me that he was getting a little worried over the safety of the five or six ducks that have been swimming up and down the Drag River in the village into the Head Lake Park Area and into Head Lake. These ducks have been viewed by many visitors and locals alike all summer and they are a sight to behold as they cruise up and down the river. Winter has arrived, the ducks are much bigger now and they are still going up and down the river. Don was wondering how they were ever going to survive the winter. On Sunday morning I met Art Ouellette who lives on the same street that I do throwing some bread crumbs into the water behind the Salvation Army Hall and the ducks were right there to get their nourishment for the day. Art was telling me that as long as the river doesn't freeze over the ducks should survive the winter in this location.

The race horse Haliburton Lass, which is jointly owned by Don Finn and Gary Vasey, has been sold to a racing group in Florida. Don Finn was telling me last week that the horse had won six races in 1983 for a total winnings of $52,000.

The members of the Rotary Club of Haliburton held a business meeting recently to discuss such matters as the Summer and Winter Carnivals and talk about future projects. Dale Robinson will be the next Chairman of the Winter Carnival, which will be held on February 17, 18 and 19. Some changes and new events have been planned. The Chalkduster Hockey Tournament which has been held for the past several years in conjunction with the Winter Carnival will not be held this year and the arena will be used for other events as part of the program. A Demolition Derby has been planned for Sunday and Snowmobile Races on Saturday. Other changes for the Carnival are still in the planning stages. The theme for the Summer Carnival which is scheduled for August 1 and 2 will be "40 Years". We will have more on this later. Suggestions for future projects were as follows: 1. Improvement to the channel between Head Lake and Grass Lake to include cleaning land on south side of road. 2. International contributions. 3. Tree planting program for the main street area.

And now here is a final note: to complete your Christmas tree fire safety program, use only lighting equipment bearing the Canadian Standards Association label of approval, and make sure that every wire and socket is in proper working order.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks go out this week to Mrs. M. Wood of 265 Wilson Rd. S. in Oshawa for giving us permission to use this photo of Falconer's

General Store in Gooderham, Ontario in 1924. The store was purchased in September, 1924 by Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Falconer. Repairs and additions to the building were made about 1935. It was sold in 1945 and later became known as Mountain View Lodge, which is now closed.

From the Chamber

"When the times are tough, the tough get going." Also the schemers start scheming. We've heard and seen a lot of reports lately about how some people make a living off the gullibility of hard working folks like you and me. In the past few weeks the Chamber has received a number of phone calls questioning the authenticity of offers for discount vacations in Florida, mail-order advertising suggesting fantastic profits from working at home and have also heard about and seen street solicitations right in downtown Minden and Haliburton. At this time of year, when we are all in the spirit of giving, there are a few out there in the spirit of getting. Before you shell out any of your hard earned cash, think twice. If in doubt, give us a call or better yet if you can spare that cash, give it to your favourite church or charity.

The weatherman sure has been good to us this year. First, we had one of the nicest summers in memory and now it looks like we might be in for a wonderfully white winter. Let's hope so. Last winter was not the best for those who depend on snow for their livelihood. Let us be thankful for "the white stuff" and when the skiers, snowmobilers, ice fishermen and others start arriving, tell 'em we missed them and let's show them a good time.

Last weekend we paraded guests from "the big city" through the Rails' End Gallery Christmas Show and Sale. Everyone commented on the quality of work and the attractive lay-out. Those involved should be proud of a job well done. It's a great place to pick up last minute gifts or presents for those names on you "almost impossible to buy for" list. Nobody in our group left empty handed.

One place that is often overlooked when shopping for gifts are our local art galleries.

Currently showing at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery until January 9 is an exhibition of watercolours and batiks by Mary Wallace and Audrey Grant and the Christmas Sale at the Rails' End Gallery goes until December 17.

New Ombudsman

A world-recognized expert on human rights and civil liberties, Dr. Daniel Hill, has been appointed Ontario's fourth Ombudsman. He has pledged to protect "the little person (who) must be cared for, must be looked after just as well as others with more power." Dr. Hill is a sociology professor and will take up his post in February. At present he is a consultant to the Bermuda Human Rights Commission, and he was the first Chairman of the Ontario Human Rights Commission between 1971 and 1973. His new appointment he regards as "an incredible challenge for a person who has worked in human rights and civil liberties." Opposition members praised the appointment of Dr. Hill. My colleague and Leader, David Peterson, said public perception of the office of the Ombudsman must be improved and cases must be dealt with more quickly.

I have served on the all party Ombudsman Committee for a number of years. A great deal of work has gone into the creation of this office. Arthur Maloney, Q.C., was Ontario's first Ombudsman. While there was some criticism of the size of the office initially, I personally believe that Mr. Maloney took the wise course and firmly established this office in Ontario, and as a result, it is best known to the people than any other Ombudsman's office anywhere in the world. Rather than simply building this new office slowly, Mr. Maloney firmly established it and I feel it was a very wise decision.

Hon. Donald Morand was the second office holder, and he also played an important role. He acted to reduce the case load and to make the office more accessible to all people in the province, and especially in northern Ontario.

Dr. Hill has an excellent record and background and I have no doubt he will serve this great office with distinction, and will leave his own imprint upon it. I wish him well.

Deputy Minister Resigns

The ongoing controversy about the Deputy Minister of Government Services culminated in his resignation. He has been the centre of a storm of criticism at Queen's Park, and when the problems which had come to a head between him and his Minister became public last summer, it was the Minister who was fired by the Premier. This man had given the go-ahead on more than $700,000 in contracts without government approval, violating spending guidelines. My colleague, Sean Conway, expressed his disgust with the man, saying "He's unrepentant...he has no apologies...there's been a corruption of the fundamental principle of responsible government...and in some ministries the Minister is but an ornament who can be dismissed at the whim of the Deputy...and the Premier, when given the choices, stood by a free-spending Deputy Minister who broke all kinds of rules...and sacked a Minister who was trying to keep spending in line." Upon the resignation of the Deputy Minister, the Premier promptly announced that he would give him another job - an action strongly criticized by many. Where there is repeated and intentional misdemeanor, there must be discipline...It's vital that clear and incontrovertible signals be sent out that this behaviour is unacceptable. The Premier maintains that the Deputy Minister's resignation is the end of the matter. I hardly think so.

Report from Parliament

By Bill Scott M.P.

The Speech from the Throne on December 7 opened the Second Session of the Thirty Second Parliament of Canada.

Speculation for the past few weeks over the speech content, generally used to outline the direction the Government intends to take in a new Session, has run rampant. What was known was that the proposed Canada Health Act would be high on their priority list. Also, with unemployment remaining the problem it is, job creation measures were expected. Some measures to assist high interest, long term mortgage holders were hoped for as well. In general, it was expected to be designed to improve the image of the governing Liberal Party at the expense of a much higher deficit. Of course, anything announced in the Throne Speech must later appear in legislation and be passed by the House of Commons before it becomes a reality.

When the Speech was delivered, it was somewhat of an anti-climax. All of the above were part of the text, but few details of the proposals were included.

The programs announced spanned all sectors of our society. It was divided into five points, as follows:

1. to seek fresh approaches to world peace;
2. to encourage economic growth so that more Canadians can own a home, learn a trade, expand a business, participate in the ownership of our resources and gain a fair share of the abundant benefits this country can provide;

3. to develop new partnerships among business, labour, government and other groups so that together we will build a better future;

4. to preserve Medicare, increase pensions for the elderly, improve public safety, extend native rights, and further protect the freedom of individuals; and

5. to reinforce Canada's identity through enhanced recognition of our cultural heritage and increased support for our creative artists by new broadcasting, telecommunications and copyright policies.

At first glance, at least, the creation of a new one billion dollar Youth Opportunity Fund and the emphasis on job creation funding for youth appear welcome at a time when the youth employment rate is 18.5%. The new Minister of State for Youth has a huge task on his/her hands if this rate is to be reduced.

As expected and requested by all Members of Parliament, the Canada Works Program will be allocated additional funding. One new program in this area is the National Voluntary Service to provide initiatives to the voluntary sector to hire Canadians. The other is a conservation corp, Environment 2000, to employ people to carry restoration and national park development. These hold a promise of being of assistance to unemployed but, as in the other proposals, it is not possible to comment on their details until the enabling legislation is presented to Parliament.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

By ARLIN HACKMAN,

The Greens are coming

There's a new actor on the political stage these days. Called the Green Party of Ontario, it wants to win public support for a program that avoids traditional left and right-wing ideologies and concentrates instead on making peace between human nature and the natural environment.

That's an ambitious political agenda. But it's no surprise that two decades of global concern for the environment should spawn efforts to win elections with an "ecology" campaign. And the approach has already worked in other countries. The "Greens" as they're known in Germany, recently won a significant number of federal seats there. Although the Ontario party has no direct affiliation with its foreign counterparts, the same principles underlie its fledgling organization. According to Party spokesperson Dr. Trevor Hancock "the major distinguishing features of ecological politics are a strong commitment to living in harmony with nature and humankind, action based upon a long-term, global, and holistic analysis of our problems, a high degree of decentralization and the development of small-scale local solutions to our global problems, and rejection of the mistaken faith in unbridled economic growth as the solution."

Of course it's a long step from this kind of all-encompassing goal to a focussed election strategy. The Party has yet to hammer out concrete policies or build a record of successful involvement in the issues it has ranked of most destitute, blind, dependent, depressed person can be transformed into a happy satisfied independent, productive person. For $25 the farmer goes back to his field, the carpenter to his bench, the mother to her hearth and the child to a full, promising life.

As an eye surgeon who has worked among the destitute in the Developing World I want to tell you about a Canadian organization that makes it possible for the blind to receive the gift of sight. Operation Eyesight is a small Canadian charity started under the leadership of Dr. Ben and Evelyn Gullison, missionaries to India, while doing medical work among the poorest of the poor on the "Black Coast of India." It is now active in 16 countries each year restoring sight to over 60,000 blind and treating over 750,000 people every year for a variety of eye ailments.

There is a real Christmas story here. In this world of conflict, suspicion and tension over 25 different racial and religious persuasions give Operation Eyesight their support...Christians, Jewish, Hindu, Moslem and Sikh faiths are among those banding together to help each other. Support also comes from service clubs, governments, corporations and schools. All these people of such varied backgrounds uniting to restore sight to the destitute is just a little bit of that "Peace on Earth, Goodwill to Men" that we hear so much about...but this my friends is a real living, breathing Christmas carol.

If you would like to be a part of this, you too can give the precious gift of sight. It only costs twenty-five Canadian dollars (tax deductible) for the surgery, medical supplies, hospital stay, food and glasses. Now, at the same time you can do something special for a friend. When you restore someone's sight you can, if you wish, do it in the name of a friend. We have a special Christmas gift card that we will send them announcing that the gift of sight has been given, by you, in their name. Along with the Christmas gift card we will enclose a patient identification card showing the name of the one whose life was turned around in your friend's name.

For a joy filled Christmas just send $25 per sight restoration gift, your own name and friends' names and addresses to Operation Eyesight Universal, P.O. Box 123, Stn. M, Calgary, Alberta T2P 2H6.

Yours very truly,

Haliburton's Junior C. Huskies have been putting on an impressive show for local hockey fans this season. On Sunday the Huskies staged yet another dramatic come from behind victory over Parry Sound.

Attendance at the games has been good, but more fans would give a boost to an already exciting team, supporters say.

Huskies defeat Parry Sound in another heart stopper

By BRYAN ABBES

The "Cardiac Kids" did it one more time on Sunday afternoon at Dysart arena. Trailing 3-1 going into the third period the Huskies exploded for four unanswered goals to win a hard fought 5-3 victory over the Parry Sound Shamrocks.

The first period was excellent with end to end rushing and excellent goalkeeping by both sides. Huskies had several manpower advantages but came up empty. Barry Boice bounced a shot off the post late in the period and Parry Sound broke away and scored on a two to one situation at the 19:14 mark to take a 1-0 lead heading for the second.

Shamrocks upped the count to two-zip at 2:20 of the second when Dave Storey saved a blast but had no chance on the rebound.

Huskies got on the scoreboard at 11:35 when Boice converted on passes from Mitchell and Smith. But at 17:07 Parry Sound connected on some sloppy defence to take a 3-1 lead heading for the third.

With the Shamrocks a man short to start the third, Huskies roared to the attack and only some excellent work by the Parry Sound goal-keeper kept them from scoring. Then at 9:13 Boice tipped in a shot from Mitchell and narrowed the gap to 3-2. A Parry Sound penalty enabled Huskies to score on a power play, Rae from Upton and Mitchell at 6:12.

The go ahead goal was scored by the same trio at 14:57. Rae from Upton and Mitchell on a neat three way passing play.

The final goal came at 18:24 when Bernie Upton stole the puck from a Parry Sound defender and backhanded the puck through the pads of the Shamrock goal-tender. Final score was Huskies 5, Parry Sound 3.

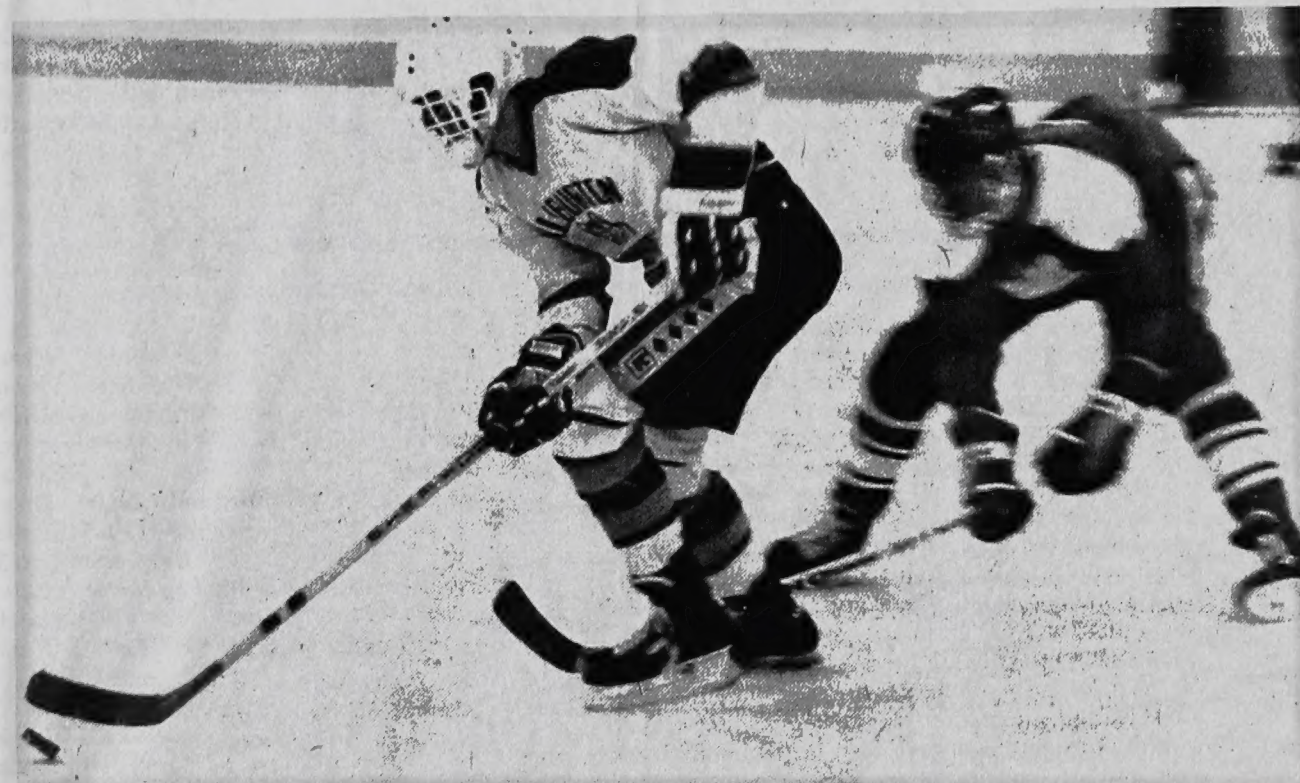

The officiating in this game was excellent with Parry Sound taking 16 penalties to Huskies 6. The score might have been higher if the Huskies had capitalized on their opportunities. Next home game for the Huskies is Sunday, December 18 when they entertain Huntsville at 2 p.m.

Huskies were in Gravenhurst on Friday night and dropped a 6-4 decision to the Indians. Bernie Upton had a three goal night for the Huskies.

The Haliburton dressing room was surprised and delighted when former N.H.L. hockey star and Hall of Famer Bobby Hull came into the room and shook hands with all the Huskie players.

The league all-star game is set for this Saturday night in Bradford. Representing the Huskies will be David Nicholls and Scott Arbuthnot.

A Huskie streaks away from a Parry Sound player during second period action at the Dysart arena on

Haliburton Lumber outscores Bishop and Wilson in Monday night action

A last minute goal by Joe Roberts gave Emmerson Lumber a 4-3 win over Curry Motors Monday night in men's league play. Roberts' goal came with just 58 seconds left on the clock as both teams fought to break the tie.

In the other game Monday night, Haliburton Lumber had little trouble outscoring Bishop and Wilson, netting five goals while allowing the surveyors only one.

Curry Motors jumped into a one goal lead early in the opening period as Philip Barry scored with help from Pete Lymburner. At the half way point the motormen added another when Gary Burtch went in alone and beat Emmerson netminder Kevin Finch.

The lumbermen got moving late in the period when

Bears end exhibition series

Haliburton's Bantam Bears ended their exhibition schedule with a 13-2 loss to Bancroft Pharmacy on Saturday, December 10. The Bears started well getting two quick goals from Scott McKee, assisted by Ben Packard and Mike McKay. However, the fast skating Bancroft team took over in the first and second period and piled up a huge lead. The Bears settled down in the third period to play better defense and held Pharmacy to two goals.

On Monday, December 5, the Bears travelled to Wilberforce and skated away with a 10-2 victory. Jeff Smith had an outstanding game in goal for Haliburton. Dave McKay registered a hat trick with three goals for the Bears, getting assists from Paul Robinson, Troy Austin, John Burton and Eoin Ross. Eoin Ross also had three goals assisted by John Burton, Dave McKay and Paul Robinson.

Ben played a strong game at centre, notching two goals on assists from Paul Robinson and Scott McKee. Completing the scoring for Haliburton were: hard-skating, left-winger Scott McKee with a goal assisted by Ben Packard and, Kevin Barry. Mike McKay also scored assisted by Dave Hodgins.

Boys volleyball team wins HHSES tourney

- SUBMITTED -

The boy's team from HHSES captured the HHSES annual volleyball tournament for 1983. The tournament drew teams from Ops, Mariposa, Dunsford, Omamee, Woodville, Fenelon Falls, Minden and Haliburton. The format included both a boys and girls' tournament run simultaneously in the large double gyms at HHSES.

The Haliburton boys swept the round-robin portion of the schedule by defeating Mariposa 21-5, Fenelon Falls 21-12 and Ops 21-7. In the semi-final game Haliburton defeated Woodville in the most exciting volleyball of the entire day. In the finals Haliburton defeated Fenelon Falls 15-12 in the first game, lost 15-10 in the second game and took the deciding game in convincing fashion by a score of 15-1.

The boys were led by Erin Nicholls, Sheldon Perry and Ron Perrin and received steady play from all team members on route to the victory.

The girls division was taken by Mariposa who went without a defeat all day. The Haliburton girls did not fare as well as the boys, losing to Fenelon Falls 21-17, to Ops 21-5 and to Woodville 21-12, but continued to give a top effort all day long. This team will have a good nucleus back next year since four members are in grade 7.

Many thanks to all the people who helped make this tournament the success it was. A special vote of thanks to Haliburton Red and White for their consideration and to Mrs. Bill Vanderhorst for his special effort in making the team luncheon such a success.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Senior League

By BERT HARRISON

Well readers, we are getting more snow every day. I guess the snow is here to stay.

It is nice to have the Thompson's back for chapel service Sunday night. The have been visiting with their family in Saskatchewan. We surely missed them when they were gone. Harold always reads the scripture lesson and leads us in prayer, Ruth plays and leads the singing when they are there. Rev. Burgess had a record playing the Scottish pipe, which was just fine. I'm sorry Mrs. Burgess Sr. is not very well at this time. As I write this letter it is nice to have Helen Lee back with us again, feeling much better.

Rev. George Elliot of Minden Anglican Church, conducted a communion service in the chapel Tuesday. He spoke of the Great Advent leading up to Christmas Day and sang some good old Christmas carols. Fred Ballard came, the music to play.

Tuesday afternoon Doris showed some interesting movies, for more than one hour, Fuzzy Duff Christmas, Talented Hands, Thousand Miles and Horse Power.

We had our Christmas concert here on Wednesday night. Right from the start everything turned out right. Bill Payne was our worthy M.C. and as jolly as he could be. Fred Ballard played the music and looked real cute, all dressed up in his Sunday suit.

The first number was the Cremation of Sam McGee. This was really something to see. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs was really good, you know. They marched around with shovels and picks singing Hi Ho, away to work we go. Snow White played her part well too, well acted all the way through. Then, representing each month of the year, an actor did appear, a shot-gun wedding for the month of June, and for the month of July an actor in a bathing suit who did not look really shy. Then the Lady and the Tramp, we laughed so hard our sides were cramped. We like the month of December because it brought us Dear Old Santa Claus. Then all the actors lined up on the stage, we could hear them loud and clear, singing We Wish You a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. They all did their part so well it was surely grand; they got a well earned really good hand.

Thanks to the Robertson sisters, Linda and Doris; they are the ones who planned most of this for us.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the Minden Curling Club came to the Hyland Crest with some tasty grub served it up so nicely, with tea, milk and soft drinks. We would like to thank the ladies of the Minden Curling Rink. Then after the Tea Party the grade 6 pupils, from Archie Stouffer School who learn different subjects and the Golden Rule, came over with their teacher and a police officer too, and sang some good old Christmas carols for us. It was a very nice thing to do.

Here at Hyland Crest with lots of good entertainment we are truly blessed. We had no "Sing Song" Friday afternoon, we had a quiz game instead, divided into A & B teams each trying to get ahead. Answering all the questions is a lot of fun. When the game was over the B team had won.

Friday night, Marilyn Stouffer and her choral group just took off and flew the coop. They flew down to Hyland Crest, sang for us their very best. Their pianist was Katherine Kellett. Marilyn deserves a lot of credit, for training this choral group; their voices are so sweet and clear.

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Home Support News

By MARIE WALLACE,
Co-ordinator

During the winter many people have a problem breathing the cold outdoor air.

The Victoria-Haliburton Lung Association provides, free of charge, a cold weather mask which enables you to breathe air which has been warmed by your body. It is designed for wearing for short periods of time only - use it when you are going from your home to car, from the car to a store, or for a few minutes in the car if it is not warmed up when you get into it. It is not for continuous wear.

An elastic on the mask fits snugly around your head to keep cold air out, a tube is tucked inside your coat.

If you are interested in obtaining one of these masks please drop in to the Home Support Office located in Haliburton village on Maple Street across from Emmerson Lumber, or call our office at 457-2941 and we will arrange to have it delivered to you. These masks come with instructions for use and cleaning. If you are in doubt as to whether you should use one of these masks, please consult your doctor. This service is provided free of charge, however the Lung Association is presently fund-raising, may we remind you to send your donation.

A follow-up to our workshop held on Friday, November 25 at the Pinestone Inn dealing with money matters, we are happy to report that it was very successful - 115 people attended. Many thanks to the following excellent speakers: Murray Bolton, Bank of Nova Scotia in Wilberforce; Ruth Foster, County Information Centre; Ray Selbie, lawyer in Haliburton; and Herb Seymour, OHIP Peterborough.

Gwen Rutter and Betty Smales attended the Peterborough Philharmonic Orchestra concert in Peterborough Sunday evening, December 4, where Betty plays in the orchestra. The same two ladies left on Tuesday for Montreal for a few days last week to shop and enjoy all the big city has to offer.

Special events are the norm these days. The Library ladies, Chris and Marg, went to Fenelon last Monday and joined the library staff there for a pot luck luncheon. Monday night, the loba ladies held their pot luck lunch, gift exchange and Christmas meeting in the Orange Hall.

The Avon ladies held their Christmas meeting, pot luck luncheon and gift exchange at the Haliburton Legion on Monday of last week, and we all enjoyed ourselves. On Tuesday evening the ladies Missionary group meet at Jessie Cameron's for a pot luck dinner, gift exchange and Christmas meeting.

Friday evening was the annual Christmas concert at Faith Tabernacle, where a good crowd enjoyed the programme, put on by the several classes. The whole theme was on the real meaning of Christmas, Christ's birth, and its purpose in our life.

Pastor Dale Switzer and wife Brenda have moved into the new manse, just north of town. Several ladies (and men) have worked hard all week, painting, varnishing and laying new carpets. Dale and Brenda are thrilled to be established in such a comfortable home.

I was sorry to hear that Mrs. Cross, wife of Rev. B.H. Cross is again in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. Our prayers are for a full recovery, Mrs. Cross.

Elmer Bowins, well known as a long time employee of Shield's Home Hardware store, had the misfortune to break his leg as he worked in the bush recently. Elmer was in hospital but is home again, where he will be resting and waiting on his leg to heal. Hurry and get well, Elmer.

Gordon Timleck has been in hospital again - was home then back in hospital. It seems his problem just will not go away to stay. I trust doctors can soon do something permanent to help Gord.

Walter Marles of Lindsay visited his mother, Mrs. Marles on Thursday.

Our area was almost snowed under on Tuesday with a very heavy snowfall. We must have got about two feet of snow. It will make some folks happy - skiers, etc. but I prefer the hot weather. To those who look forward to snow - I hope you are enjoying it.

Our sympathy to Wilbert Switzer and family. Wilb's father, Courtland Switzer died in Lindsay on Sunday, after a short illness.

My sister, Catherine Harrison of Norland, and I enjoyed a shopping trip to Newmarket on Friday. The crowds are as bad there as anywhere. Looking around Upper Canada Mall there, we ran into a couple of folks we knew, but found it tiring to struggle through the crowds.

Eaton's catalogue was a much simpler way to shop in the good old days.

A brave little robin was at our barn this morning. I can't imagine why he would stay here with all the cold and snow when the others have flown south.

Congratulations to Ella Caister who celebrated her 80 plus birthday today.

Mrs. Doris Latour has vacated her apartment in the old Greaves house on Albert Street and gone to Brampton.

New neighbours of ours, are Andy - who works at IGA, and his family, in the Cooper house on Lime Street.

The Happy Wanderers have been entertaining at the Seniors home in Minden and at Burnt River Anglican Church recently.

Arnatt Construction have about completed their work here. They had parts of our main thoroughfare closed off at times and it was frustrating for them and for us motorists. Anyway, we are glad they have about completed their work and that they were only doing their job, we are happy the frustration is over. Poor guys did look so cold some days, flagging, running jackhammers and so on.

Gwen Rutter spent a week with her daughter, Jane and family at Barrie last week.

We are enjoying a visit with son Bob, visiting from Stroud, and doing some hunting of rabbits.

I trust you are adjusting to the winter road conditions and that you will not be one of those impaired drivers. We must remember that all life is precious, and drinking drivers cause so many deaths.

Dorothy Powell and daughters enjoyed shopping in Barrie recently. Clint and Heather Hirstwood were shopping in Toronto on Saturday.

Wilberforce News

A snowy landscape, frosty windows and icicles form an ideal background for the social gatherings that take place at this time. A spirit of friendliness fills the air.

Members of the ACW held their annual Christmas meeting on Wednesday, December 7. They welcomed visi-ters who joined in the singing of carols. Julie Kennedy showed a film depicting the work done by the Church Army. The business on hand included the dispensing of financial aid to various church projects. Items for babies were brought by the members to make up two layettes for needy little ones.

Oldest member present was Mrs. May Croft who received the gift of a poinsettia. One of these potted plants was also delivered to the home of Mrs. Priestman who was unable to be present.

This warm and friendly meeting came to a close with the serving of light refreshments.

The Monmouth Senior Citizen group had planned a Christmas dinner that was to be held at the Kozy Korner restaurant in Haliburton. However, poor weather conditions caused a cancellation of the outing. Another event will take place this week at the Memorial Centre. Let's hope that it is a fine day for this one.

This is always an important time for the Girl Guides and Brownies. It is also Christmas party time to which the parents are invited. Roberta Walsh and Doris Waymouth are the dedicated leaders of the Brownies. The event took place at the Memorial Centre where the stage was set for the ceremonies that were to follow. A path through the woods was lined with evergreen boughs that were aglow with coloured lights. These shone on the toad stools which are a feature of Brownie lore. Three little girls were initiated into the club. They were Jennie Dunford, Jennifer Coumbs and Beckie Townsend.

The Girl Guides, with leaders Mary Barker and Jan Watson, presented their own colourful ceremony when they formed a horseshoe. Each girl held a lighted candle. The enrollment welcomed Tracy Tremblett, Angie Plumbly, ReNee Casey and Robin Lee to their group. The four new members then were presented with lighted candles. Cookies and drinks were served to one and all. We mustn't forget an important visitor. Santa Claus came and put on quite a performance. Taking advantage of the occasion he claimed his reward by kissing all the ladies.

Members of the Monmouth Volunteer Fire Department had been in touch with Santa Claus and had invited him to visit Wilberforce on December 10. He needed transportation so they provided him with a big red fire truck. On arriving he proceeded to his favourite big chair with plenty of Ho! Ho! Ho's. The jolly old fellow took the children on his knee and, after listening to their many requests, he readily promised that all would be delivered on Christmas Eve. The Monmouth firemen were on hand to assist Santa by handing out bags of candy and cans of pop. Many youngsters visited the arena where free skating was available. As an added treat there were hot dogs provided by the members of the South Algonquin Kinsmen Club.

The firemen appreciate the generous donation made toward this Christmas party by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ross.

Welcome to our newest Wilberforce resident, Patricia (Patti) Marie Riley spent a short time in Peterborough before coming home with her happy parents, Theresa and Mark Riley. She was born on Monday, November 21, 1983 and weighed 6 lbs. 6 oz. She is the first baby in the family and the first grandchild of Bill and Colleen Riley of Essonville. She is the first great grandchild of Harry Robinson. Another proud grandmother is Evelyn, of Pickering. This is her first granddaughter and seventh grandchild. Congratulations to all the happy relatives on the arrival of this beautiful baby girl.

"Middle age is that time of life when after one night out you need two nights in."

I hope that all those who don't go in for outdoor sports have plenty of hobbies to work on, as right now it looks as though we might have a long winter. However, we could have a mild, rainy period that would get rid of all of this snow. Possible? But not probable.

Wednesday, December 7 arrived in a swirl of blowing snow and the previous day and night had been stormy with lots of snow. The annual Christmas bazaar had been planned for the evening of the 7th. What to do. The convenors were in a dilemma. Postpone? Cancel? Or take a chance that the weather would start behaving itself before evening. There was much telephoning and discussion and finally a decision was made to have faith and carry on as planned. This was the right decision as by evening or even afternoon the roads were ploughed, the snow had stopped and there was nothing to keep people at home. This was proven by the turnout of customers that attended the bazaar. The Guides, Brownies, Pathfinders and the Dorset Anglican Ladies would like to thank everyone who braved the cold to help make the event a success, also a thank you to those who worked so hard baking, knitting and creating artistic craft articles and other items for the sale.

On Monday, December 5, a baby shower was held in the Dorset Community Centre for Ruthie (McEachern) Ross and was very well attended. Ruth had a little girl on November 11 and little Anna attended the shower, but I think the baby missed some of the activity. She bright-eyed and alert a lot of the time but slept in between with never a peep. Ruth is lucky to have such a good baby. The hall was packed with well wishers and the gifts were too numerous and varied to attempt to describe. After all of the packages were opened and admired the hostesses, Robin Weatherell and Val McEachern, served a buffet lunch.

There are two other newcomers in our village recently, Joclyn and Phil Cass are the proud parents of a baby boy born on December 2 at the Huntsville Hospital and weighing 6 pounds and 3

Well, since the weather has been nothing to speak of lately I guess I'll get right to the news.

Eva and Keith Boyce have found a semi-permanent winter place at Indian Rock Camp, Florida, near Key Largo. They have been in touch with Frieda Boyce and Les and Ada Thomas.

There was a string ensemble at the Pioneer Baptist Church on Friday, December 9 at 7:30. The entertainment was provided by Ruth Pettit and her pupils, from Bancroft.

Congratulations to Beverly Graham who won the draw for a homemade fruitcake from Bartley Motors.

The Norland Horticultural Society had a pot-luck dinner at the Women's Institute Hall on Tuesday, November 29. Thirty people sat down to a delicious dinner. There was a bazaar table and a game table. They raised over $45.

Rumour has it that Norland, Coboconk, and Kinmount are three towns that the Ontario Provincial Police are going to concentrate on in regard to the new fine for seat belts. Better buckle up.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Buxcey had a visitor from Poland recently.

The United Church held a very well attended bazaar recently. Many people enjoyed the hot lunch and the craft table did a thriving business making over $400.

Here's some more lucky winners: Alex Graham was the winner of Shirley Harrison's free Wintario ticket last week.

A former Norland resident was a recent winner in a Pot of Gold Lottery. Lucky Jean collected $5,000.

Buryel Kipp won $40 in Coboconk's hockey pool last week. Believe it or not that was the first time she had entered any hockey pool.

The hockey scores for Sunday, December 4 were as follows: the Gravellores swiped the Excavators 11 to 6 and the Taverners defeated the Generals 9 to 6. The team points standing finds the Taverners in first place with 14, the Excavators second with 7, the Gravellores third with 5 and the Generals fourth with 3.

The euchre scores for Thursday, December 8 looked like this - ladies' high, Janice Chynoweth, men's high, Debby Chynoweth, ladies' low, Laura Weaver, men's low, Doug Taylor, lone hands, Tony and Barb Kenneth (tie).

Well that's it for this week. If you have any news items for me please call.

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY

Glamorgan Senior Citizens' annual Christmas dinner was held in the Community Centre last Wednesday.

At 1 p.m., after Fred Vanderland asked the blessing, about 60 guests sat down to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings and Christmas pudding for dessert.

Evelyn Vanderland, convener, did a "super" job, as usual.

Ivan Hunter, president, greeted the guests and thanked his directors for their co-operation throughout the year. He conducted a draw for five silver dollars, courtesy of Bill Scott, M.P. The winners were: Flo Parnell, Violet Billings, Hattie Ackley, Bob Fotheringham and Dorothy Dewey. Draws also were made for four poinsettia plants. The winners of these were: Violet Danelko, Gwen Taylor, Pearl Carv and Walter Madill.

A telegram from Marlis Lindsay, district representative of New Horizons, expressing regret for not being able to be present and conveying season's greetings, was read by Marjorie Madill.

Walter Baron, with his accordion, was very renerous as he led in singing Christmas carols. Lenore Rose favoured us as she sang "Adeste Fideles" in Latin.

Dorothy Robertson presided over the craft table where knitted goods, Christmas decorations, novelties and other attractive items were sold.

The centre was attractively decorated with pine branches and coloured lights. An individually wrapped piece of Christmas cake was at each place.

Socializing, bridge or euchre concluded an enjoyable afternoon.

There will be no further meetings in December. The next meeting will be on January 11. Come and enjoy good fellowship with us.

Santa Claus is coming to the Glamorgan Community Centre on Saturday, December 17. At 11 a.m. a hayride is planned and movies will be shown at 1 p.m. Of course Santa will be his jolly old self as he talks with the children and distributes gifts. This annual children's party is sponsored by the Recreation Committee who merit our thanks for their efforts to make this an enjoyable event.

Walter and Pat Baron and Pat's mother, Phyllis Chamberlain, returned from Ferguson for the Senior Citizens' Christmas dinner. Walter had just undergone tests in St. Michael's Hospital where he was assured further heart surgery was not necessary which was good news to his friends.

Albert Cary underwent surgery in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, last Thursday. It is good to know that he is making favourable progress.

There will be no service in either the Pentecostal or United Churches on Sunday.

December 25. Instead the Christmas service in the Pentecostal Church will be on the previous Sunday, December 18. In the United Church it will be held on Friday evening, December 23. The Sunday School children will take part in both services.

Last Friday evening the Gooderham school children presented their Christmas concert. A large number of proud parents, grandparents and friends were present.

The excellent program consisted of the Kindergarten Band, choirs, choral readings, square dances, plays and a Christmas pageant. Mr. Glidden accompanied the children in their musical numbers. It was amazing how the Kindergarten class - just 3 months in school and looking so small, could do so well in both singing and square dancing. They stole the show! The other four grades performed equally well. The costumes added to the delightful acting.

The Christmas pageant which concluded the programme was the Nativity story with the whole school participating. The humming of "Silent Night" was effective as well as solo numbers by Mary, Joseph, a shepherd, and a child who brought a lamb as a gift. The little drummer boy showed rhythm as he beat his drum.

We take off our hats to the teachers, Chris Bailey and Jane Miller and to the music supervisor, Mr. Glidden, for a first-class performance. The children all seemed so happy and self-controlled.

Thanks also to Rev. Roger Sauve who proved a genial M.C.

All enjoyed a light lunch before they departed.

Congratulations, teachers and pupils.

Happy birthday to Christopher Snodden, who was two years old on Sunday, December 4. Vanessa Munro, also two years old on Tuesday, December 20 and to Brian Snodden on Thursday, December 22.

Happy anniversary to Bev and Larry Snodden on Saturday, December 17.

Gladys Bowman was the lucky winner of $17.50 in the Kinmount Legion 50/50 draw held Saturday, December 3.

That storm last week caused a number of accidents and a number of trees to come down. Aside from all that though, the countryside sure looked like a picture wonderland.

Eileen Shepstone and Eileen Bennett both suffered falls recently but luckily neither was too badly hurt.

I was sorry to hear Violet Henderson is in Civic Hospital, Peterborough. Get well soon Violet, Charlie misses you.

Gertie Crichton is still in hospital in Lindsay and here's hoping all our sick people are well and home for Christmas.

Mike Viney hurt his hand recently but is coming along nicely.

T.J.'s in our town have done a paint job to their walls and have it looking nice with decorations for the holidays. They have tickets on sale for the draw on that beautiful

"candy house" being shown in Hockley's $5-$1. store window.

Quite a number of Avon reps enjoyed a combined business meeting/Christmas luncheon on Monday, December 5. All the girls showed up with a pot luck dish plus a gift and it was very enjoyable. The girls presented "leading lady" Stephanie Foster of Orillia, with a gift of a blue bathrobe which she wore through the business meeting held at the Canadian Legion in Haliburton. A very merry Christmas to all you girls. You're tops.

I hope to hear Helen Jones, Helen Graham, Sam Telford, Dave McNamara and all the rest of you are better very soon.

We received a card from a Nova Scotian cousin on Saturday, December 10 and she tells me they've only had a few snow flurries recently and hopes it stays that way. I can remember other years when they were snowed in before we even saw any snow.

Have you ever tried a "Dump Cake"? I can prepare cherry pie filling, 1 large can pineapple chunks, drained, 1 pkg. yellow cake mix, 1 cup melted margarine, 1 cup flaked coconut, 1 cup chopped walnuts. Pre-heat oven to 350° F. Spread pie filling evenly in bottom of greased 13x9 inch baking pan. Arrange pineapple chunks over cherries. Sprinkle with cake mix, cover with margarine and top with coconut and walnuts. Bake for one hour. Serve hot or cold.

A number of our residents have gone to warmer climes for the holidays and I'm sure we'll hear about some of their travels when they return.

Not much news to report this week and besides, this old girl has picked herself one lulu of a cold very suddenly. I've been told I couldn't have been completely well from the flu bug the previous week. Anyway, I'll try to do better next week.

I enjoyed a short visit from Charlie Henderson Friday afternoon, December 9.

Be safe this year

A happy Christmas can change in a few moments into a family tragedy, warns Dysart et al Fire Chief Howard Roberts, in homes where fire safety precautions are neglected. Such precautions should head the list of every sensible family's preparations for Christmas, he says.

The Fire Chief urges the public to exercise special care in the setting up and decoration of Christmas trees, and draws attention to the following important points:

If plans call for a natural tree it should be bought fresh and green, and kept outdoors or in an unheated garage before being brought into the home for decorating. Then, one or two inches should be cut diagonally from the butt, and the tree should be set up with the butt in water which should be maintained above the level of the cut.

Check strings of electric lights carefully for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulb sockets. Only CSA-approved lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations should be used. Declare the tree a no-smoking area and keep matches out of the hands of children.

Do not allow discarded gift wrapping to accumulate under the tree. Dispose of them as soon as the gifts are opened. Even a green tree will burn if ignited by burning paper around the base.

Set up the tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators. Do not allow it to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire. Switch off tree lights at bedtime or when leaving the house.

Choosing the right toy for infants is a difficult task

By KIMBERLEY J. Roddick,
Infant Development
Consultant

With only 23 shopping days till Christmas, every department store's and specialty shop's toy section is overflowing. Parents, relatives and friends face the difficult but important task of choosing the "right" toy for their favourite young child.

There are many manufacturers besides Fisher-Price that sell high quality, safe toys for children under twelve months of age. Tonka, Ambi, Bire, Corgie and Johnson & Johnson also have a wide variety of stimulating and fun toys available on the market.

Consider the following questions when shopping for toys:

1. Is it safe and durable?
2. Does the cost fit into your budget?
3. Does the toy suit the individual likes and dislikes of the child?
4. Is the toy at an appropriate skill level?

child development under one year and recommend appropriate toys for each level. Choose toys which encourage emerging skills and reinforce present skills. It is important to remember that these are only guidelines and you need to take into consideration the functional level of each child.

Birth to Six Months

During the first six months children are developing their senses of sight, sound, taste, touch and smell. They are learning to focus their eyes and ears to the world around them. Toys should be brightly coloured and musical; with varying weights, textures, sizes and shapes.

Mobles and crib gyms provide stimulation for the child, from an early age. Fisher-Price's musical mobile has tilted figures which are very attractive from the child's point of view ($25-$30.). Semper Toys sells a crib toy that has a variety of attachments available for a basic rod. They range from wooden bells, flowers and blocks to a "peek-a-boo" attachment which is more suited a five to eight month old learning cause and effect.

Fischer-form and Ambi both produce interesting crib bells available for under $6.

Squeeze toys and rattles allow children to have an effect on their world. Ambi has a variety of manipulative squeeze toys available. The best ones I have seen are made by Lanco. They are bright, easy to squeak and multi-textured. The hedgehog and snake are my favourites and available under $5.

An unbreakable mirror is an excellent addition to a baby's crib. Ambi's Funshine Mirror is unbreakable and has an easy-to-grasp plastic frame.

Balls in all shapes and sizes promote a child's exploring skills. Chicco and Reliable manufacture an excellent ball with half-circle depressions that make the ball easy to grasp for small hands, under $6.

Kiddicraft sells an excellent two-handed manipulative toy called Flip Fingers. Soft blocks with bells inside are also good two-handed toys.

Bath time becomes very enjoyable at this age. Floating ping pong balls encourage reaching and grasping. Tomy sells brightly coloured wind-up bath toys that are a low-cost gift idea.

Six to Twelve Months

During this time of development, children are expanding their horizons as they develop the large muscles of their arms and legs. Eye-hand co-ordination continues to refine. As a result, more complicated thinking patterns emerge.

Stacking toys are a good means of practising these skills. Ambi's stacking barrels and cubes and Fisher-Price's Rock-A-Stack are two good examples.

Every child should have some form of block set before the age of one year. Fisher-Price's "Baby's First Blocks" has a sturdy container and a shape-sorter lid that can be used when the child is older. Many companies make bright, one inch alphabet blocks. Playskool makes the best wooden blocks unless you know a carpenter with some time to spare. They are easily made and can be painted with bright non-toxic paint.

There are a wide variety of consequence toys available. Johnson & Johnson's "Balls in a Bowl" is a clear plastic container with several small balls with attractive centres with lots of play value (under $15). Ambi's Active Baby has a set of four stimulating, colourful plastic shapes that rattle, roll, squeak, reflect and stack (under $12).

Musical toys or noise makers are also popular with this age group. Pounding benches, xylophones and musical drums are good toy choices. Pull toys give the children incentive to explore their world. The following are recommended: Fisher-Price has "Bob-Along Bear" and "Tag-Along Turtle"; Johnson & Johnson make an excellent pull toy, "Rhythm Rollers" with an interesting musical attraction; Brio has a wooden wagon with removable spoons which doubles as an excellent stacking toy.

Kneisel makes an excellent bright top which is easy to push and has an interesting sound.

Ten to twelve months is not too young to introduce crayons or books. Crayons should be thick so they don't break easily and will fit into stubby fingers. "Chubbistumps", triangular-shaped, heat-proof, non-toxic crayons are available in many stores.

Books should be sturdy and bright. One picture to a page is a good idea for a first picture book. The stories should be simple and short.

These toy suggestions are offered as tools to be used by you or to entertain when the child must be left alone. Your interaction with them is undoubtedly the best "toy".

Next week: Toys for children under three years of age. In two weeks, an article will be devoted to choosing books and records for young children.

Tax grants sent

The Ministry of Revenue has completed the mailing of 900,000 "Sales Tax Grant" cheques to eligible Ontario senior citizens.

These $50 cheques are sent automatically each year to all Ontario residents aged 65 or over, to help offset the retail sales tax they pay. This year's sales tax grant payout totals nearly $45 million.

"It is the government's belief that Ontario's seniors deserve special relief from provincial retail sales tax," commented Bud Gregory, Ontario's Revenue Minister. "Approximately 900,000 seniors throughout the province will receive sales tax grant cheques over the next few days. "Those who have turned 65 since September will receive their cheques in January of 1984".

In his statement to the Legislature, Gregory also provided an update on the processing of "Ontario Property Tax Grant" applications. The Property Tax Grant is provided annually, in two installments, to eligible seniors who complete an application form and return it to the Ministry. The grant is designed to offset the municipal and school property taxes paid by seniors either through their property tax or rent payments.

Agricultural Report

Since the late 1960's in New Zealand and early 1970's in Canada, situations have been identified where voltage on the neutral of the electrical system has been found on metal stabling, water systems and milking systems in dairy herds and has had a negative effect on behaviour and milk production of dairy cows. Because many factors affect milk production and animal behaviour, and because "cows can't talk" the specific effects of defined levels of single voltage are very difficult to measure. Nonetheless, they are very real and, in serious cases, can reduce the net income of a dairy farm significantly.

Animal reactions to single voltage will vary depending upon the severity of the problem. If one or more of the following symptoms persist, single voltage may be contributing to the problem: uneven milk letdown, incomplete milking, cows extremely nervous, cows reluctant to enter stable or parlour, increased mastitis, increased somatic cell count, reduced feed intake, reluctance to drink water and lowered milk production.

Based on studies which have been conducted to date, the following guidelines regarding dairy cattle sensitivity to single voltage are currently suggested: Less than 0.5 volts, not a problem; 0.5 to 1.0 volt, further testing recommended; More than 1.0 volt, corrective action recommended.

Field experience has shown that situations where symptoms are severe and obvious usually involve at least three to four volts measurable between cow contact surfaces; however, any level above one volt is thought to have a less severe but still economically significant impact on production and behaviour.

A limited survey of Ontario dairy farms indicates that between 10 and 20% of the dairy herds in the province are exposed to more than one volt within the environment of the cows, although severe problems occur less frequently than this.

The sensitivity of dairy cows to single voltage represents a specialized requirement for extremely low voltage on the neutral on dairy farms and that the herd owner has an obligation to both his cattle and himself to pay for corrective action.

Since early September of 1983, Hammond Manufacturing Company Limited, 394 Edinburgh Rd., Guelph, Ontario N1H 1E5 (519) 822-9600 or (416) 456-3770 has been marketing a device called "Tingle Voltage Filter" at an approximate cost of $300. This filter is installed on the main electrical service panel in the barn. This filter is a static, magnetic device similar to a transformer, that has current limiting characteristics. It prevents the transfer of primary neutral voltage, secondary and neutral voltage drop, and tingle voltage from other buildings to the barn ground system. Contact your electrician or local OMAF Engineer to see whether or not you have a problem prior to purchasing and installing this device.

High moisture corn
Grain corn harvest is well along this year. Estimates on October 27 that the crop is nearing a 50% complete puts harvest about 10-14 days ahead of last year.

One of the main reasons for the earlier harvest is the faster dry down of the corn this year. This may be of concern for some farmers putting up high moisture corn.

The range for High Moisture Corn is 20-35% moisture. If less than 25% moisture, then the corn should be stored in a gas tight or oxygen limiting silo. If ground into an open top silo the high moisture corn packs better and should be considered if moisture levels are lower than you want.

Much of the corn has been testing in the range of upper teens to low thirties with the bulk in the 25% range. If you are going to put up high moisture corn and especially if in an open top silo, you should be checking that the moisture levels are not going too low. The corn could easily drop another couple of points if the weather turns warm and breezy.

If you are putting up ground ear corn the moisture is usually several points wetter than the grain moisture. As well, being ground it packs better.

In any case be sure the silo is in excellent shape with tight fitting doors and no cracks. If the silo has not been used to store high moisture corn before, you should determine if it is constructed strong enough to stand the extra pressure.

Legion news

By MABEL D. BRANNIGAN

The generosity of the donors, and the co-operation of the several committees, contributed to the successful military shows at the Agnes Jamieson and Ralls' End Galleries. The exhibitions were sponsored by Branch 129 so that the public might see such a unique show without paying admission charge.

It is hoped that contact has been made with all ill comrades. Among these, thoughts are with Bertha Porter in Princess Margaret Hospital.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the families of World War I veteran, Com. Osborne, whose Legion service was held on November 29.

Although November was extremely busy, Branch 129 took the time to make substantial donations. Some of these went to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, The Haliburton Huskies hockey team, the Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded, the Haliburton and Victoria Lung Association, and a donation of $500 went to the Haliburton Horticultural Club, who will plant and maintain flowers at the Legion building and at the cenotaph.

Thanks to those who purchased a copy of "Veterans Review". All proceeds went to veterans at Sunnybrook Hospital. We regret that some orders could not be filled as we received a limited number of books.

Comrade Sylvia Sisson has completed most of the ground work in the challenging task of the formation of the Cadet Corps. Approximately 80 applications are in, and she is presently filling officers positions.

The unselfish efforts of all those who worked in the Poppy Campaign, and all of those who contributed, have assured everyone that the Poppy is very much alive, and that the flame of the Torch is burning boldly. Tangible proof of this was seen at the Remembrance Day banquet when $3000 was given by Branch 129 to the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital Heart Monitoring Unit. The Executive extends good wishes for a safe, happy holiday to all comrades and their families. We hope to see everyone at the next general meeting on January 5, 1984.

32. in memoriam

In loving memory of Lawrence C. Morrison who died December 10, 1982. By the death of a husband and father we became heirs of sorrow, inheritors of grief. Bereavement taught us mourning's bitter lessons -- the depths of loneliness, the magnitude of our loss. However, we refuse to accept the grave as life's last word. As Christians we are also heirs of hope and joy -- the promise of Easter morning and a world where suffering and partings have no place and no one says goodbye. Until that day-break we gather December's roses in our garden of precious memories, secure and comforted by the eternal assurance that grass withers, flowers fade, but the word of our God stands forever. Alma and Nila. 32-P-14

MINAKER - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Annie Irene Minaker who passed away December 16, 1982. She left us quietly. Her thoughts unknown. But left us a memory. We are proud to own. So treasure her Lord. In your garden of rest, For on earth She was one of the best. Lovingly remembered by Audrey, Bob, Grayce and Bud, Blanche, Clark, Pat, Larry, grandchildren and great grandchildren. 32-P-14

In remembrance of my father, Floyd Henderson who passed away December 16, 1975. All my life I've loved you Dad, Far more than words could say, And now as each year passes I think of you each day. I've spoken your praises and your love to everyone I know, And I still see your sweet face. No matter where I go. Still sadly missed but always remembered by daughter Eileen. 32-B-14

BROAD - In loving memory of my dear husband who passed away December 13, 1982. Sadly missed by his loving wife, Kathleen. 32-P-14

BROAD - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather who passed away December 13, 1982. Beautiful memories are treasured ever. Of happy days when we were together. Lovingly remembered by his daughter, son-in-law and grandsons. Lesley, Eric, Alex and Ian Finlay. 32-P-14

These we encourage our friends to use on mail (when stamps bearing Her Majesty's portrait are so frequently 'out of stock'), on tax and other forms, as favours for children, decorations and so forth.

Due to a printer's error, we have some 5000 sheets of stickers surplus to our order, and we have agreed with him to distribute these, free of charge. Accordingly, we invite your readers to request their complimentary sheet of 30 'Queen of Canada' stickers by writing to: The Monarchist League of Canada, 2 Wedgewood Crescent, Ottawa, Ontario K1B 4B4. It would be appreciated if a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope were included. Teachers, guide leaders, 4-H groups and other youth organizations are, of course, welcome to request multiple copies. In this way we hope that an error may be turned to advantage and allow more Canadians to manifest publicly their undoubted loyalty to our Sovereign.

concern, such as nuclear disarmament and resource depletion. But true to their motto "Think Globally, Act Locally" party members are looking to begin work on these concerns at the municipal level, across Southern Ontario.

It's a little early to predict defeat for mainstream political parties at the hands of this new movement. In fact the reality of the Canadian political environment already taught the Greens to move slowly. What was billed as the founding national convention in Ottawa a few weeks ago, fell apart at the seams because delegates from different regions could not work together. Whatever its future, the Green Party of Ontario may prompt more serious debate on environmental issues in future Ontario elections. That can only be good.
